

FAMOUS PEOPLE WITH DYSLEXIA

Perhaps the most famous film director, Steven Spielberg has Dyslexia.

He didn't know until he was 60 that he had the disorder. Bullied as a kid, he struggled through school and dropped out of college in 1968.

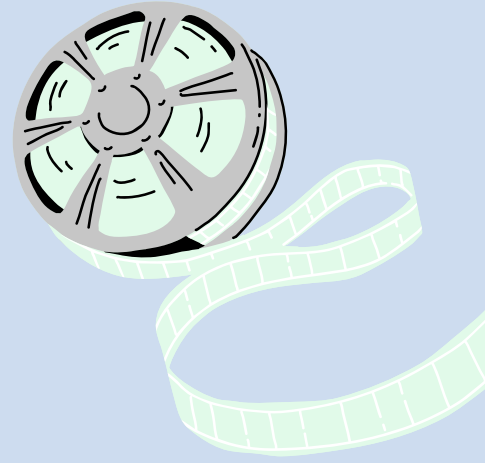

Since then, he has fought back using the big screen.

The Goonies, a cult classic he co-wrote and produced, reflects Spielberg's teen years as a self-proclaimed "nerd" and "outsider."

He can be described as having unrivalled technical skills, a perfectionist, and obsessive compulsive nature.

His collection of award winning films include Jaws, Jurassic Park, Minority Report, Lincoln, and the BFG.

